

Vaccine Schedule

Dr. Yee is a firm believer in protecting pets from preventable diseases while at the same time, avoiding over vaccination. It is essential to provide puppies and kittens with the proper foundation for their immunity. However, lifestyle, health status and genetics also contribute to vaccination safety.

Dr. Yee and her team will work with you to discuss your pet's needs/risk of exposure and create a customized preventive health care plan. Whether it be vaccinating or monitoring titer status, the team at Hometown Vet is solely interested in keeping your pet healthy.